

Irregular Miniatures 2mm Figure Ranges

Version 2.1 [updated 02/03/05 & a few small additions 16/10/07]
These updated lists now include the Ancient, Renaissance and Horse & Musket ranges as before PLUS Fantasy and now some more from the 20th Century range, including the new additions. Thanks to Andrew Moselen for additional data on the WW2 & Modern ranges.

16/10/07 - I'm currently working on new reference images for this page (but don't hold your breath). Any good, sharp pictures of the Modern IK ranges would be appreciated as I don't have many of these. Each list shows:

• the Catalogue code & the description given by Irregular • the price code (e.g. A3 means 3 for price code A - currently 25p (as at 16/10/07) in the UK)

• the number of figures/models in the block & the number of ranks (where relevant) • the width and depth (in mm) - for the whole base, not just the figures (filing off edges will make some smaller)

• my description or comment (sometimes superfluous) Most of the gaps are because I don't have an example of that particular block or model. Any additional detail would be welcome. Post the details to my e-mail and I will add them to the table. Additional or replacement comments are also welcome. Also welcome would be a note of any errors I have made, I spotted a couple recently and have corrected them but there are probably others.

It prints out on about 6 pages. ANCIENTS -- RENAISSANCE -- HORSE & MUSKET -- FANTASY -- 20th CENTURY

ANCIENTS RANGE A good range with only minimal gaps for doing DBA or other rules with limited troop types. Not always the best detailed blocks and a few are poorly defined. My favourites have to b

Probably the most detailed range and generally the best castings. The Pike and Shot blocks look good painted and the artillery is superb, particularly RBG29.

These are mostly well detailed but some are definitely better than others. The Modern armour seem to be the best castings and the few aircraft I have are quite good. Infantry is not t everyone's taste but I quite like them. I have big gaps here as my only real interest is early WW2, do some measuring you modern buffs and post it!!
